Thoughts for meditation:
 Shall we accept good from God and not trouble? In all this, Job did not sin in what he said.

never made it. I owe him everything," Morgan recalled.
He is still trying to find the name of the soldier who saved his life.

He received a Purple Heart for his injuries.

He has all of his ribbons and honors placed in an antique picture frame with a beveled glass. Morgan took basic training at Camp Chaffee, Arkansas with the 16th Armored Division.

Upon basic training completion he was assigned to Fort Meade, Maryland; then Butler, North Carolina, and to Breckinridge, Kentucky with the 75th Infantry Division.

As a rifleman with the 75th he was then sent France, where he was involved in four major battles, Morgan said.

He spent about 12 of the 14 months recuperating from injuries at Newton D. Baker Hospital, Martinsburg, West Virginia, where he was discharged on April 1, 1946.

Morgan is proud to have received the Purple Heart and also France's Liberation Medal, among many others, for his exploits as a member of the United States Army during World War II.

After discharge Morgan completed his studies and received a high school diploma.

He said, "What disturbs me most is to see our American flag, which represents the most important thing we have—freedom—being burnt, torn up, dragged through the mud, etc. "As Americans, everyone should show respect for the American flag. I had many a buddy who is not here today, sacrifice their lives for this freedom we have.

"As a nation, thousands of Americans have given their lives for the freedoms we have today. Everyone should show respect for our flag, out of respect to those who have died in order for us to be free."

Morgan worked 37 years in a light bulb factory in Fairmont, West Virginia before retiring.

He and his wife of 40 years have two sons. One lives in Saurier and the other in Bay St. Louis.

Morgan concluded, "The day I put on a uniform, I became a man. I thank the Lord every day for still being here."

Director

He appointed commissioners Louis Brown, Omer DeBever and Joe McCullouch to the screening panel.

In other business, McDonald said he personally would investigate the possibility that substandard railroad cross ties have been showing up along the commission's tracks.

The commission was told that some ties only four years old have had to be replaced, although normal life expectancy for pressure-treated ties is up to 15 years.

McDonald said he was surprised at the report, because the commission buys its supplies from reputable companies who "don't try to cut corners." Still, he said, even untreated hardwood cross ties should last longer than four years.

On another matter, McDonald told the commission an apparent bookkeeping oversight was caught recently by the Federal Aviation Administration concerning revenues from sale of properties at Stennis

International Airport.

McDonald said money from sale of two parcels at the airport should have been placed in an "FAA high priority fund" for later allocation to airport construction projects.

Instead, the money was put in the commission's general operating fund, he said. A transfer may be necessary to correct the problem, McDonald said.

The commission agreed to sign a resolution asking the Bureau of Marine Resources to approve a permit for filling a small tract to be used for parking at the commercial fishing marina on South Beach Boulevard near Bayou Caddy.

McDonald said the property at issue has been purchased by Mike Cure, who leases the marina from the commission.

The boat launch at the marina doesn't have enough space to accommodate cars and trailers without blocking access to the marina, he said. Cure wants to fill a rectangular strip of land to allow for vehicle and trailer parking, McDonald said.

He added that the project is unrelated to parking for the nearby Jubilee Casino.

In other matters, the commission agreed to advertise for bids on a road construction project at Port Bienville Industrial Park. The roadwork will provide access to new facilities being built by Manufab.

The commission also agreed to relocate a trailer from behind the commission offices in Waveland to Stennis airport, at a cost of about $350. McDonald said the trailer, owned by Calgon Carbon, will be used by Pearl River Community College as classroom space for fire and rescue safety training.

Board attorney John Scafile told council members he was unsure of the validity of the Site Plan Review and Supplemental Standards as passed on October 19.

MESC reports positive Sept. labor force stats

According to the Mississippi Employment Security Commission, Hancock County unemployment figures continued a steady decline, 1.2 percent, in September.

The MESC reported unemployment rates for September are 4 percent for Hancock County (5.2 percent in August), 5.2 for the State of Mississippi (6.0 in August) and 6.4 for the United States (6.5 in August).

Mississippi's Civilian Labor Force continued to decline in size during the month of September as high school and college students completed their exit from the summer work force.

This helped trigger a drop of more than 9,000 in the number of unemployed persons.

Aided by a sharp increase in school-related employment and by small gains in goods producing industries, the number of employed rose by nearly 6,000 people. This combination of factors, which usually occurs annually, led to a significant drop in the unemployment rate.

The civilian labor force in Hancock County declined by 270 persons from 14,860 in August to 14,590 in September. The number of employed persons also declined by 80 from 14,080 in August to 14,000 in September.

Unemployment fell by 190 persons as from the August rate of 780 went to 590 employed persons in Hancock County in September.

Neighboring counties rates from August to September included: from 4.2 to 3.7 for Harrison County, from 5.7 to 5.4 percent for Jackson County, from 7.6 to 6.4 for Pearl River County, and from 9.5 to 9.0 for Stone County.

MESC reported an early harvest and generally poor crop year may send joblessness up somewhat in October, particularly in the Delta area. Most other areas should remain at or near September levels.

EDITORIAL

Your presence needed at Vets Day parade

Veterans Day is celebrated across America today. Hancock County residents can show their support by participating or viewing the annual Veterans Day parade this morning.

The special parade is co-sponsored by American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars members and auxiliary members of Hancock County.

The parade forms at 9:30 a.m. on the Highway 90 Service Road West of Riemann's Funeral Home and is set to begin at 10 a.m.

It will proceed west on Highway 90 to Blue Meadow Road, Blue Meadow to Green Meadow, and disband in the Clement R. Bontemps American Legion Post 139 parking lot.

A lunch is planned by Post No. 139, this year's parade sponsor, for veterans and their guests.

Today would be a good time to remember the men and women from all of America's wars and to show veterans how we thank them for the price they paid for the freedoms we have today.

Thousands of American men and women have died on the battle fields in foreign lands and also on the oceans of the world. We need to remember them, too.

There are still many alive today who still have the 'marks' of World War II, Korea, Vietnam and other wars on them, and will take them to their graves.

The price for freedom is great, when you think that one can give no more than ones life.

Remember those who are responsible for our freedom today.

"QUOTABLE QUOTES"

By Ellis C. Cuevas

Cindy Vernon, Hancock County Chamber of Commerce executive director, is asking for all groups, organizations and businesses with functions planned for the holidays to please inform the chamber by November 15.

This is for Red Ribbon Christmas promotions planned for the upcoming season.

The chamber plans on publicizing as many activities as possible and needs the information as soon as possible.

Contact the chamber office at 467-9048.

This year it is hoped that the Red Ribbon Christmas will be one of the most successful.

If you are looking for something to do Saturday afternoon, you may want to visit the North Bay Elementary PTO's Arts & Crafts Fair.

The Arts & Crafts Fair will be from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. and replaces the annual Halloween Carnival, according to Elizabeth Kimmel, PTO spokesman.

There will be free arts and crafts for the students of the community at the school located on Dunbar Avenue.

Teachers are sponsoring the arts and crafts for the occasion.

PTO members are to have food, games and refreshment booths.

This is a unified effort between teachers and parents, and proceeds are to be used for PTO projects.

A special cake contest will be held at 10 a.m. on Saturday, and the cakes will be used later in the day for a cakewalk, Kimmel said.

I hope to see you at the Arts & Crafts Fair.

Big things will be going on at Salmen Scout Reservation in North Hancock County on Saturday and Sunday.

The 75th anniversary of Scouting will be celebrated by the New Orleans Area Boy Scout Council.

This will mean Boy Scouts from throughout Hancock County will be involved, since they are members of the New Orleans Area Council.

Camp Salmen Reservation at one time was known as Vee-Bar and has been owned by the New Orleans Council for some 22 years.

The late J. Norton Haas Sr. was very instrumental in the camp coming to Hancock County for the Council which serves thousands of Scouts.

As many of you know from previous announcements, Camp Salmen is undergoing big improvements, such as a new dining hall, Cub World, camp sites, Indian Village and more.

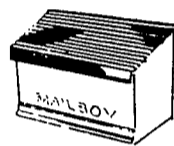

I am sure there are some of you who may have been Scouts in your younger days and may want to attend this big event.

A big fireworks display is set for Saturday at 9 p.m. among many other events.

After the party, construction is to begin on the new projects to improve Salmen Scout Reservation.

Dear Mr. Cuevas:

Thank you for taking the time to write.

I understand you are having difficulty finding a station with full service in your area. We try, as much as possible, to adapt our facilities to the needs and wants of customers using our station and regret any inconvenience you're experiencing.

We appreciate your comments and suggestions concerning service to senior citizens and handicapped customers. It has always been Chevron's goal to assist any motorists as fully as possible when necessary. In addition, we have always encouraged our dealers, who are independent businesspersons, to do likewise and to be sensitive to the needs of all

In your case, perhaps you could acquaint yourself with your local dealer and explain your situation. We're finding increasing numbers of dealers who are happy to assist customers at the self-serve island who need help.

I appreciate the time you've taken to share your feelings. We value your business and hope we may continue serving you in the years ahead.

To Serve Her Country

By G. V. (Sonny) Montgomery
U.S. House of Representatives
Committee on Veterans' Affairs
Chairman

The hospital at Cam Ranh Bay was a long way from Clayton, New Mexico, and events there in 1969 would forever change the life of 23-year-old Dotty Beatty. Assigned to the facility's intensive care unit, the Air Force second lieutenant, like others who served in Vietnam, experienced daily the extremes of war and human behavior. She carries the memories still.

"The sound of a chopper still raises my anxiety level. I wonder how many, how injured? I think the only people who hear a chopper before I do are the corpsmen and combat vets. For them it was the sound of relief — help for their friends. For me, it was a sound of dread — could I do enough?"

The Vietnam Beatty remembers was "a world with almost no rules, a different value system, different priorities. I find myself making decisions today based on the priorities of that setting."

Mary Foley was on a weekend pass at her parents Haverhill, Massachusetts home in February 1942 when she was abruptly ordered back to Fort Devens. The 24-year-old Army nurse soon found herself on the USS Uruguay, bound first for Australia and, ultimately, New Guinea. The initial destination had been the Philippines, but Bataan and the nurses stationed there were under siege and about to fall to the enemy. Foley would not be home again for three and one-half years.

"It was quite an experience for a shy girl from New England," says Foley of the generally intolerable conditions of the island — the jungle, the heat, lack of water and basic medical supplies. Assigned to the tropical disease unit of the 10th Evacuation Hospital, Foley came to dread the toll of the local mission bell.

"The bell was our signal to report to the hospital and to the incoming soldiers sick with typhoid and malaria," remembers Foley. "Considering the climate and the conditions, we took care of them as best we could and gave them as much comfort as possible. Without the nurses, the casualties would have been much worse. We were their lifeline."

Mary Foley continued to be a lifeline for sick and wounded soldiers upon her return to the United States. She worked at Walter Reed Army Medical Center in Washington, D.C. until 1953.

Representing different generations, Mary Foley and Dotty Beatty are linked by a profound sense of duty and love of country. As witnesses, often from the front row, and full participants in the struggles which have taken our nation from Lexington to Mogadishu, women have been premier contributors to the cause of freedom and political stability worldwide. From desk to field, from ship's deck to cockpit, from triage to battlefield, women have endured the horrors, stress, fatigue and other inevitable results of war. Women can proudly claim more than an ancillary role in U.S. defense. And now, at long last, their time of national recognition has come.

On Veterans Day 1993, a memorial in honor of women like Dotty Beatty — more than 11,000 who served in Vietnam — will be dedicated on the 2.2-acre site of the Vietnam Veterans Memorial in Washington. It will be the first memorial in the Nation's capital to specifically honor women's military service. Behind this poignant tribute, a statue depicting three Vietnam-era women, one of whom is caring for a wounded soldier, is an equally poignant message: Had it not been for the women who served in Vietnam, 90 percent of whom were nurses, there is no doubt that many more names would appear on the polished granite panels of the Wall which lists the war's fallen.

Of the dedication, Beatty says "there will be women who are confronting for the first time the fact that they were in 'Nam, and there will be men who were injured who are looking for 'their nurse.' It will be a powerful time for healing."

Recognition and healing on a national scale will continue when the Women In Military Service for America Memorial is dedicated in 1996. This memorial, which will include a visitors center, will be placed at the main gate of Arlington National Cemetery. It will recognize the dedication and valor of all 1.8 million women in uniform who have responded to aggression, despotism, humanitarian challenges and threats to America's security.

These two memorials are much more than mere symbols of atonement for the societal slight of the contributions of women in the Armed Forces. They will be tangible, lasting reminders of the selflessness of an extraordinary society — women veterans — which has achieved a place of great distinction in our history and our hearts.

Of our total veteran population of 27 million, 1.2 million are women who volunteered for military service. They too served under difficult and dangerous circumstances as nurses, saboteurs, scouts, couriers, switchboard operators, stenographers, translators, pilots and gunner's mates. A number have been highly decorated (including combat-related awards), some were prisoners of war, some remain buried in U.S. cemeteries overseas, and all have been important to both wartime and peacetime efforts. The fact is that we owe a great debt to our women veterans for their achievements, a debt that goes beyond granite or bronze commendations, important as they are.

Hearings on the matter in recent years revealed significant shortcomings in health care and other VA services for women veterans. An associated problem was the fact that many women veterans did not know what benefits were available, or surprisingly, did not even think of themselves as veterans.

In 1983, Congress established an advisory committee on women veterans to make recommendations to VA to better serve women. Thanks to this advisory committee, health care services for women were enhanced. For instance, there now are women veteran coordinators in our veterans' hospitals to help ensure proper care and assuage the anxieties of women patients.

But while some of the roadblocks to women's equal access to VA benefits and services have been removed, there is much left to be done, and the numbers tell why. Today, there are over 200 thousand women on active duty. They represent more than 11 percent of our total active force. Another 143 thousand women serve in the reserve components. While the male veteran population is declining, the number of women veterans is increasing. Recognizing this, Congress is giving greater attention to improve services for women veterans.

In 1992, Congress established a comprehensive health services program for women veterans, which includes counseling for those who were sexually harassed or assaulted while in military service. The 1992 law also called for a new emphasis on research on women veterans' health care issues. In October, the Veterans' Affairs Committee sent to the House a bill which reaffirms with greater specificity the government's obligation to provide eligible women veterans timely, appropriate, gender-specific health care services and significantly expands these services.

This legislation will require VA to survey each of its 171 medical centers to identify deficiencies relating to the privacy of women patients and to develop plans to correct those deficiencies. The Committee's scrutiny of these and related matters of concern to women veterans will be persistent and demanding.

On November 11, Veterans Day, take a moment to contemplate the contributions of Dotty Beatty and Mary Foley and the hundreds of thousands of women who have served in the Armed Forces. In the chronicles of patriotism and freedom, theirs is a story that captures the spirit, courage and inspiration that is America.

On Wednesday Cablevision announced they will give one day's credit to any customer who experienced an outage on Friday, October 22 or Sunday, October 24. Customers can call the main office at 1-800-239-6000 or visit the local office in Waveland to receive the credit.

Tremain called Cablevision's number of outages 'normal'. "We are in compliance. Power outages will occur; these were typical outages at bad timing."

"I don't think it's as bad as it's sounding," Tremain said. According to Tremain, as a result of the 1992 Cable Act, the FCC encourages the public to call the particular franchise, which in this case is the city of Bay St. Louis, with complaints.

She said the city is receiving more calls now because the new law requires they are named on the bill as the one to contact when problems occur.

Tremain said the company is working to upgrade its system, particularly at their office in Waveland where satellites are located. She said once upgrading is complete, she will invite councilmen to observe the new system.

Tremain added that a $2 million ARU telephone system will be complete by April of 1994.

Council members will attend a municipal television rating seminar in Jackson on November 22. They are also looking into the feasibility of a city-run cable company.

Cable complaint forms can be obtained by writing to the FCC, Cable Form Request: 329, P.O. Box 18238, Washington D.C. 20036.

In The Face Of Disaster, It Always Helps To Talk.

Following something as devastating as a hurricane, a tornado, or an ice storm, the last thing you want is to be cut off from the rest of the world. Those are the very times when dependable telephone service is most important.

Here in Mississippi, you can rest assured that South Central Bell is dedicated to keeping the lines of communication open. In the best of times and the worst of times. We've learned from experience. So we're better prepared than ever before to weather any type of storm that comes our way.

The most sophisticated and reliable technology, for example, has been built into our network to help ensure its survival under stressful conditions. Many cable lines are now buried underground to help prevent damage from trees and debris. And if a line does get damaged, alternate routing and self-healing capabilities help provide continuous, uninterrupted service.

If the power at one of our central offices goes off, our emergency generators come on—which means that your phone can still work even if the electricity doesn't. And in case a central office becomes completely disabled, portable switching stations are always on standby to take its place.

We also have a special Disaster Center that's used to constantly monitor and control operations during a crisis. We can call in technical and administrative support crews from throughout Mississippi—or the nine-state BellSouth region—when needed. And we're ready and willing to provide temporary banks of public phones for use in the hardest hit areas...so that anyone whose phone service has been interrupted can maintain critical contact with family and friends.

Talking things through is a big part of getting through any crisis. South Central Bell is doing all it can to make sure that, whenever disaster strikes, you can call on the people you need most—and they can call on you.

FISHIN' Y'ALL

By Jim Maness

Trolling produces successful fishing trip in cool weather

It's time to go fishin' y'all. The word this week is that the shrimp are back all along the seawall.

Looks like wintertime has come a little earlier this year than in years past. The fronts that have been moving through have dropped the water temperature to the 60's.

Cooler water temperature usually means that it is time for the fishin' buddies to change from their successful summertime tactics to the immensely difficult wintertime tactics of trolling the bayous and canals.

"You ask, 'What's so difficult about trolling?'" The answer to that question is: "Hey man, it's tough having to sit in a boat, out in the fresh air, for hours at a time."

I mean you've gotta sit in the boat with your feet up on some type of foot rest, making great effort to control the direction of your boat, while it is traveling at the break-neck speed of at least one or two miles per hour. As an afterthought, maybe two miles an hour is too fast a speed for wintertime trolling.

Now that everyone is ready to rush out to their boats and start dragging baits down the bayous, let's talk about wintertime trolling for specks.

First of all, specks, just like people, don't seem to like cold weather. Unlike people, specks can't put on extra clothes when the temperature goes down. So they do the next best thing, they head for deeper water.

The deeper the water, the more stable the water temperature will be on the bottom. Somebody said that water acts as its own insulator. What all this means to the fisherman who wants to go after the trout, is that you gotta find the places where the water is deep.

The colder the water temperature, the less likely you are to find trout in the usual summertime locations along the shallow areas of the shoreline.

Where will you find deep water? Why in the bayous and canals, of course.

Now that we know where the trout like to "hang out" during cooler weather, the next question is — how do we catch the rascals?

The best way to catch them is to use a fish hook. Since a plain fish hook does not seem to be very attractive to the average trout, you might wanna consider having the fish hook attached to something like Queen Bees with the green fleck design, 52M18 Mirror Lures, Thin-Fin in the Sun Perch pattern, or Rattletraps. All of those lures produced fish over the past week.

Bay High TD club hosts Turkey shoot

My personal favorite this past week was the Queen Beetle in tandem. I found that by using two of the 3/8 ounce jig bodies together, I was able to get closer to the bottom of the bayou while trolling. To emphasize the effectiveness of using the two together, I have to relate that I had one pole with a single beetle on it and a second pole with the tandem combination.

I did not catch one trout on the single while the trailing beetle of the combination consistently produced fish.

To make this combination, I generally use about four feet of 20-pound mono. After I tie a beetle to both ends of the mono, I arrange them so that one will trail about one foot behind the other.

For those folks who want to use baits other than those that contain lead jig heads, you might want to consider putting a weight about three or four feet in front of your artificial.

There are several different sinker weight styles that are available. The ones that seem to work the best are the ones that have what looks like a pull chain on the front and back of the weight. This allows the line to keep itself from twisting up in a knot because the bead chain allows the line freedom of movement.

The speed of your forward movement will have an impact on how deep your bait will be fished behind your boat. The faster you go, the shallower your bait will run.

Most of the trout caught in Bayou Caddy over the past week were caught in the area between Bryan's Bayou and the three canals by Lambert Lane.

There are reports of trout being caught in the area between the first of the three canals and the bend of the bayou using live shrimp fished about six feet under a cork.

Johnny Davis reports that the really big flounder are starting to show up in the Herron Bay area. He went spearing, out of his boat, the other night and stuck about 40 flounders. The biggest went about seven pounds. The average was about four pounds.

Ringo, of Bordages boat launch fame, has a terrible tale of woe this week. It seems that his outboard has fallen and it can't get up. I offered him my sledge hammer to "fix" it, on the theory that if you can't fix something, get a bigger hammer. I don't know why, but he declined the use of the sledge. Anyway, he told me that he needs parts. He did not tell me what kind of parts. If anybody has parts, contact Ringo.

This week's wonderful wise words: You will need a boat to go trolling. Do you think Ringo is talking about body parts, Turtle?

Lifetime sportsman licenses on sale

Since its inception in 1988, thousands of Mississippians have taken advantage of the opportunity and convenience of owning a Mississippi Lifetime Sportsman License.

Lifetime License holders never have to renew or buy another annual license and save money by not having to pay future license increases.

"Lifetime Licenses are always a popular gift, but especially around Christmas time," said Pat McDaniel, license sales supervisor.

"In order to receive the license by Christmas, all orders must be received by the Department of Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks by Nov. 30," added McDaniel.

Lifetime licenses for persons 13 years old and older are $500. For those between the ages of 2 and 12, the license is $300. For persons under 2 years of age, the license is $200.

Lifetime license holders must still purchase state and federal duck stamps to hunt waterfowl.

To order an application, call 1-800-500-HUNT, or write: License Sales Division, Dept. Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks, P.O. Box 451, Jackson, MS 39205-0451.

Sharks win U-8 tourney

Special to the Echo
The Under-8 division of the Bay Area Youth Soccer League held its first annual Fall Festival Tournament at the St. Augustine Seminary field this past weekend.

Three teams played in a round-robin format Saturday morning with three more doing the same Saturday afternoon. The winner of each session met Sunday at 1.

In the morning session, the Sharks defeated the Hammerheads 3-0 and the Stingrays 7-0 to advance to Sunday's final showdown.

Leading the offensive charge for the Rotary Club-sponsored Sharks were Beau Brodtman, Nick Cooper, Stephen Boh and Kent Benigno. Jacob Durbin, Blaine Durbin, Christopher Braud and Jonathan McShane all stood out defensively, thwarting numerous attacks on their goal.

The Hammerheads ended the day with an even record, losing their first match to the Sharks in a hotly contested battle and rebounding to defeat the Stingrays 3-0.

Moving the ball offensively for the Bayou Caddy Fisheries-sponsored Hammerheads were Colin Wilson, Patrick Donohoe, Brooks Breland and Josh Lingsch. Defensive standouts were Josh Maidenbaum, Whitney Bowne, Bruce Rushing and Michael Cure.

Although the Stingrays did not break into the win column, their level of play has skyrocketed recently. Sponsored by Kelly Cannon State Farm Insurance, the team was led offensively by Matthew Sau-cier, Luca Giardino, Austin Ladner and Brennan Marlowe. Brandon Higgins, Courtney Eagan, Cody Cannon and Greg Lamier adeptly handled the defensive duties.

In the afternoon session, the Volcanos sponsored by Monti Electric, advanced to the finals with a 3-1 victory over the Renegades and a 6-0 win against the Blue Marlins.

Michael Kivlan, T. J. Koger, Kyle Sick, Tre Hamilton and Chris Caliva provided the offensive fireworks, consistently pressuring the opponent's goal. Forming a defensive curtain were Christopher Magee, Jennifer Magee, Sean Olsen and Derrick Ladner who stymied numerous assaults by the opposition.

The Renegades, after losing their initial match to the Volcanos, bounced back to stun the Blue Marlins. The team consistently pressured their opponents with hard-pressed attacks. The Renegades were led offensively by Timmy Kulikowski, Josh Cozzens and Heath Hansell, who scored his first U-8 goal. John Chapton, Chris France, John-Michael Stribling, Chris Lee and Garret Conn carried the weight on the defensive side of the ball.

Great improvement was also shown by the Blue Marlins. Sponsored by Alcan Cable, the team is well on its way to becoming a formidable foe throughout the league. Offensively, the Marlins are spearheaded by Brad Farrar, Jason Lewis and Schaefer Dane. Defensive standouts include Sean Harris, Dwayne Garcia, Christian Walter and James Wahl.

In finals Sunday afternoon, the Sharks jumped out to a quick lead on a goal by Nick Cooper early in the first quarter. Beau Brodtman got credit for an assist on the play.

The game then turned into a defensive battle with both teams making strong pushes towards the opposing net only to be denied by stingy defenses.

Leading the way offensively for the Sharks were Cooper, Brodtman, Stephen Boh and Kent Benigno.

The Volcanos countered offensively with Michael Kivlan, T. J. Koger, Kyle Sick, Chris Caliva and Derrick Ladner.

Defensive standouts were Jacob Durbin, Blaine Durbin, Christopher Braud and Jonathan McShane for the Sharks and Tre Hamilton, Jennifer Magee, Chris Magee and Sean Olsen for the Volcanos.

Fourth quarter goals by Cooper and Benigno iced the victory for the Sharks. Both teams were congratulated by the officials, their coaches, parents and fans as having played probably the finest Under-8 game to date.

All participants received engraved medals with the first and second place teams, along with their sponsors, receiving trophies.

Regular season action continues next Saturday with the Renegades taking on the Hammerheads at 9:45 and the Blue Marlins tangling with the Stingrays at 11. The Volcanos and the Sharks will meet in the season finale Nov. 20 at 9:45.

BY JOSEPH W. GEX II
The third annual football game between Bay High and St. Stanislaus alumni has been set. The site for the December 11 game will be at Rock-a-chaw stadium with kickoff at 7:30 p.m.

The proceeds from this game will be divided among the respective athletic departments and the Scott Demboski

Memorial Soccerplex.

St. Stanislaus tied the series at 1-1 with a 20-0 shutout over Bay High last year at Tiger stadium. Sean Logan added, "SSC is looking to take the series lead with a win at our home field."

Logan continued, "We do this to bring the community together. The former athletes want to give something to the new athletes and prove that the old boys can still strap it on."

People interested in playing for SSC can call Sean Logan at 452-4813 or Joe Gex at 467-5670. Former Bay High players can call Mike Proulx at 452-4316 or Matt Karl at 467-5333.

Double your fun. This black beauty takes two with real class. The adjustable seat is a special feature that accommodates two people. The flexible hand-hold is convenient for passengers of many sizes and the padded nerf bars give the riders a feeling of being part of the machine. That seat has real automotive styling with its high back comfort and pleated cover over a dense foam cushion. There's a lot of special engineering from the passenger's foot guard to drop frame and wide track design. The parking brake is unique, too. It sets easily.

You start the engine, get in and a simple foot tap releases the brake, and your off. A great safety idea from Manco.

ASK THE V.A.

By Donald Mauffray

The Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) has established a single, nationwide, toll-free telephone number to make it easier for veterans and their dependents to inquire about the veterans headstone and grave-marker exceptions. This means personal service is readily available to all who need it.

The number,

1-800-698-6947, connects callers to VA's National Cemetery System's Office of Memorial Programs in Washington, D.C., Mon. through Friday, 8 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Said NCS director Jerry W. Bowen, "Va customer service representatives can provide immediate information about memorial programs. Timely delivery of our services is mandatory, and this new system will greatly enhance our ability to get answers to customers who need them quickly."

National Cemetery System operates 114 cemeteries throughout the United States and Puerto Rico. All veterans with discharges, other than dishonorable, their spouses and children, are eligible for burial in a VA National Cemetery. They also are eligible for a government-provided headstone or marker and a Presidential Memorial Certificate.

Naval Oceanography Command changes name

The Navy has announced that the Naval Oceanography Command has become the Naval Meteorology and Oceanography Command. The change and accompanying realignment affects the command's headquarters, located at the Stennis Space Center as well as more than 60 of its subordinate activities worldwide.

The command's largest subordinate activity, the Naval Oceanographic Office, also located at the Stennis Space Center, will retain its present names.

Navy activities at the Stennis Space Center are the sixth largest employer in the local area.

Since 1978, the Naval Oceanography Command, currently comprised of about 3,000 officers, enlisted and civilian personnel, has analyzed weather and oceanographic conditions and their effects on operating naval forces. It is headed by Rear Admiral John E. Chubb.

"Weather always has been an important part of our mission," said Chubb. "The disciplines of oceanography and meteorology are very tightly interconnected. For 15 years 'naval oceanography' also meant weather. Today, we acknowledge our weather duties with the addition of 'meteorology' to our title."

Elements of the Navy's oceanography and meteorology programs were consolidated in the mid-1970s. On an average day, the command's activities: originate warnings for storms in the tropics; alert ships to high winds and seas; issue ice forecasts for ships operating near the Arctic and Antarctic; prepare hundreds of flight weather briefs for naval aviators; generate fuel-efficient routes for ships crossing the seas or aircraft on long flights; describe oceanographic conditions which allow effective deployment of mines and submarine hunts by sonar; provide windage and engine adjustments for cruise missiles; describe radar coverage for aircraft, ships and missile systems; survey water depths for charting safe routes for ships; and measure the Earth's magnetic field for compass corrections and predicts the surf conditions for marine amphibious landings.

Navy weather products also recently cleared the way for drops of relief supplies in the former Republic of Yugoslavia and "refueling of air patrol craft over the troubled border of Bosnia-Herzegovina.

Girl Scouts need
leaders, assistants

Gulf Pines Girl Scout Council is in need of troop leaders and assistant troop leaders.

Troops meet either once a week, every other week or once a month, depending on the schedules of the leaders.

The various age levels of Girl Scouting include: Daisies (kindergarten), Brownies (1-3 grades), Juniors (4-6 grades), Cadettes (7-9 grades) and Seniors (10-12 grades).

The council will also help obtain a meeting location. Many troops meet at churches, schools, libraries, community centers or the leader's home. All volunteers are supported with written resources, monthly leader meetings and free training.

The training offers a variety of program ideas dealing with different age levels, meeting ideas, outdoor programs, camping experience and a wide selection of other courses. For more information about becoming a Girl Scout volunteer, contact any council office at 864-7215 or 762-9671.

The Bob Harmon Forecast

College Football Highlights

For Nov. 13

They've been as closely analyzed as any two college teams in the country in recent years, but Florida State and Notre Dame have played only once. Twelve years ago in South Bend, the Seminoles came away with a 19-13 win. In 1981 FSU was on its way to an undistinguished 6-5 record, and the fighting Irish, in their first season under Gerry Faust, were in the middle of an even less distinguished 5-6 season.

Two very different teams will meet on Saturday, both of which have dominated their opponents in 1993, but we expect the result to be the same. Our top three or four teams are usually within two or three points of one another, but this year Florida State is at least 10 points better than the No. 2-ranked Irish — even on the road.

Another big game matches teams that have met only once, when Louisville visits Texas A&M. Their previous meeting, however, is still a fresh memory: The Aggies, the defending Southwest Conference champions, bombed the Cardinals 40-18 last year in College Station, Texas, running up 407 yards on offense. This year, with Louisville ranked in the Top 20 for the first time in three years and headed to the Liberty Bowl, count on a much better game — but count on the Aggies to make it two in a row.

With the Indiana Hoosiers boasting one of the best defenses in the country, their visit to Ohio State, an annual Big Ten battle, could be one of the week's best games. Until the Buckeyes beat the Hoosiers 27-10 last year in Bloomington, the difference between them in three previous games was a total of eight points: two four-point Ohio State wins (in '91 and '89) and a tie (in '90). This week, however, we think Indiana will be starting to tire after tough games with Michigan State and Penn State, while the Buckeyes will roll on.

When it comes to close games, no recent rivalry matches the Pacific-10's Arizona and California, which face off in Berkeley. Since a 1987 tie, the Bears have won four out of the last five times they've played the Wildcats — by scores of 23-21, 30-25, 29-28 and 10-7. The relative runaway was Arizona's 24-17 win in Berkeley '92. On Saturday the Wildcats should win again, but it'll be very close. Again.

We're gaining accuracy by the week. Through games of Oct. 30 we've been right 1,347 times and wrong 456, an average of .747.

NFL Forecast for Sunday and Monday Nov. 14-15

Cleveland, 26—**Seattle, 21

With the Steelers breathing down their necks in the AFC Central, this is a very big game for the Browns. The last time they met, in 1989, Cleveland's 17-7 win ended a four-game Seahawk streak.

**Dallas, 34—Phoenix, 19

In the third week of the season, the Cowboys got their first win, beating the Cardinals 17-10 — Dallas's sixth straight win over Phoenix. In another hot division race, the Cowboys can't let up.

Houston, 25—**Cincinnati, 17

Three weeks ago the Oilers won ugly over the Bengals, 28-12, playing sloppily but scoring 21 points in the second half while Cincinnati self-destructed. Houston needs every win it can get.

**L.A. Raiders, 28—Kansas City, 22

The fists and forearms were flying in the Chiefs' 24-9 win over the Raiders six weeks ago. Four K.C. starters were hurt, while the Chief defense sacked Vince Evans six times. More of the same.

**L.A. Rams, 20—Atlanta, 19

On the strength of three TD passes by Billy Joe Tolliver, the Falcons beat the Rams 30-24 a month ago, ending a seven-game losing streak. They're almost dead even, but L.A. gets the nod at home.

Miami, 30—**Philadelphia, 26

The Dolphins are a more well-rounded team than the Eagles, less dependent on — and a lot more confident without — their starting quarterback. They've won their last four games against Philly.

Minnesota, 27—**Denver, 24

This pick is dangerous, because the Broncos tend to win at home, but their only strength in the pass, against which the Vikings are the best in the NFL. Two years ago Denver won 13-6.

**New Orleans, 23—Green Bay, 21

The mysterious Saints can crumble against a good team (like Pittsburgh) or a bad one (like Atlanta), but they're still explosive when they have to be — like now. They haven't met since '89.

**N.Y. Giants, 28—Washington, 14

Redskin QB Mark Rypien got back into action against the Giants five weeks ago, but he couldn't save the 'Skins from a 41-7 rout. In any other year we'd pick Washington to pay New York back.

N.Y. Jets, 21—**Indianapolis, 14

The Colts may have won both games against the Jets in '92 (6-3 and 10-6), and their records may be similar this year, but New York is the superior team. They'll meet again in three weeks.

**San Diego, 24—Chicago, 20

San Diego's offense showed signs of life against the Raiders two weeks ago, while Chicago's is one of the league's least productive. The Chargers and Bears haven't faced off since '84.

San Francisco, 33—**Tampa Bay, 16

The 49ers' 21-14 win over the Buccaneers late last season was their seventh straight over Tampa Bay since '83. One-sided? The Bucs are last in the league in offense and 26th in defense.

**Pittsburgh, 29—Buffalo, 27

(Monday) Last year the Bills beat the Steelers in the regular season, 28-20, then shut them down in the AFC divisional playoffs, 24-3. This year, however, Pittsburgh will rise to the occasion at home.

Houseplants

TLC needed to survive winter indoors

When seeing how sickly your houseplants had grown over the winter months before moving them outdoors this past spring, you were probably tempted to call a plant doctor.

That temptation should prompt you to give them a little tender, loving care now to ensure they survive the next few months indoors.

The conditions most harmful to houseplants during winter months are low light levels and dry air, says Eva Neumaier, who teaches botany at the University of Mississippi and is a landscape consultant. To lessen the effects of dry air, spritz plants with water regularly.

Other suggestions include: —Treat for pests. During their stay outdoors — especially if the days have been hot and dry — plants tend to collect insect pests such as white flies, aphids, spider mites and mealy bugs. Likewise, slugs are attracted to cool, moist flowerpots. Ridding plants of pesky critters requires a little work three weeks before bringing them indoors.

The most effective treatment against insect pests, the professor said, is an insecticidal soap, which will not harm children and pets. Treatment requires spraying plants three times at weekly intervals. For persistent sucking insects, a systemic pesticide can be used. It is worked into the top layer of soil and absorbed by the roots. "Handle systemics with great care," she said. "They are very toxic and require at least three weeks to dissipate." Remove slugs by hand.

—Repot root-bound plants. Turn potted plants upside down and gently remove them from their containers to determine whether they're root bound. Repot root-bound plants in containers no more than one inch larger in diameter than the old pots.

"Be sure to shake some of the old soil off the roots before putting plants in new soil. If you can't get a plant out of an old pot, take a garden hose and flush the soil away from the roots," the expert suggests. "Also, add an inch of new soil on top of the old to give plants that aren't root bound a 'shot in the arm.'"

—Fertilize once more. "Go easy on fertilization," Neumaier says. "Plants need a rest, too. Fertilize for the last time this season in September, then resume fertilization early next spring." Houseplant fertilizers come in liquids, pellets or spikes. Although the Ole Miss botanist prefers using a liquid, she says the others are just as good and leaves the choice to you.

—Give plants a bath. Before moving plants indoors, wash them down with a soft spray from the garden hose. If wide-leaved foliage plants are still dull after their bath, wipe the leaves with a mixture of equal parts of milk and water. "A little of the fat in the milk will remain on the leaves and give them a glossy sheen," Neumaier says.

—Keep mid-winter "bloomers" in the dark. Poinsettias and Kalanchoes need 14 hours of darkness every day for a month to initiate flower buds. Neumaier suggests putting them in a paper bag or covering them with black cloth during the month of November.

—Mimic Mother Nature. Some plants — such as blooming cacti and clivia — need to weather a dry spell, while others — such as star jasmine and some orchids — need to experience a cold period to trigger blossoms. To prompt cacti and clivia to bloom, keep them on the dry side but don't let them dry out completely from now until December. Then water them regularly for spring blossoms. Leave star jasmine and certain orchids outside until night temperatures fall below 40 degrees Fahrenheit, and they'll also bloom in the spring. When leaves on your amaryllis turn yellow, put it in the garage and don't water it until December, then repot it, water it regularly and watch it bloom.

—Enjoy color from fall to spring. For spots of color indoors, buy a few potted mums now. For mid-winter color, try potting bulbs like tulips, daffodils, paper narcissus and crocus, after the bulbs have spent six weeks in the refrigerator. "They need cold treatment," the professor said, and "They'll bloom four to six weeks after potting." For each spring color, clip a few branches from forsythia, quince and other budding flowering shrubs. When you bring these inside and put them in water, they quickly bloom," she said.

Quit smoking.

REPORT ON INTERNAL CONTROL STRUCTURE MADE AS A PART OF THE AUDIT OF THE COMPONENT UNIT FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

July 2, 1993

Members of the Board of Supervisors
Hancock County, Mississippi

We have audited the component unit financial statements of Hancock County, Mississippi, oversight unit, as of and for the year ended September 30, 1992, and have issued our report dated July 2, 1993.

We conducted our audit in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards and Government Auditing Standards, issued by the Comptroller General of the United States. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the component unit financial statements are free of material misstatement.

In planning and performing our audit for the year ended September 30, 1992, we considered the county's internal control structure in order to determine our auditing procedures for the purpose of expressing our opinion on the county's component unit financial statements and not to provide assurance on the internal control structure.

The management of Hancock County, Mississippi, oversight unit, is responsible for establishing and maintaining an internal control structure. In fulfilling this responsibility, estimates and judgments by management are required to assess the expected benefits and related costs of internal control structure policies and procedures. The objectives of an internal control structure are to provide management with reasonable, but not absolute, assurance that assets are safeguarded against loss from unauthorized use or disposition, and that transactions are executed in accordance with management's authorization and recorded properly to permit the preparation of component unit financial statements in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles. Because of inherent limitations in any internal control structure, errors or irregularities may nevertheless occur and not be detected. Also, projection of any evaluation of the structure to future periods is subject to the risk that procedures may become inadequate because of changes in conditions or that the effectiveness of the design and operation of policies and procedures may deteriorate.

For the purpose of this report, we have classified the significant internal control structure policies and procedures in the following categories:

- Revenues/Receipts
- Purchases/Disbursements
- Payroll
- Budget
- Fixed Assets
- Electronic Data Processing (EDP)

For all of the internal control structure categories listed above, we obtained an understanding of the design of relevant policies and procedures and whether they have been placed in operation, and we assessed control risk.

We noted certain matters involving the internal control structure and its operation that we consider to be reportable conditions under standards established by the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants. Reportable conditions involve matters coming to our attention relating to significant deficiencies in the design or operation of the internal control structure that, in our judgment, could adversely affect the county's ability to record, process, summarize and report financial data consistent with the assertions of management in the component unit financial statements.

Chancery Clerk.

1. Finding

As reported in the prior year audit report, Section 7-7-211, Miss. Code Ann. (1972), gives the Office of the State Auditor the authority to prescribe accounting systems. We noted the following deviations from the prescribed accounting system contained in the County Financial Accounting Manual:

- The prescribed investment ledger was not maintained.
- Some debt obligations were not included in the general long-term debt ledger.
- The prescribed chart of accounts was not used.

Recommendation

The Chancery Clerk should use and properly maintain the accounting systems as prescribed in the manual.

Chancery Clerk's Response

This has been corrected.

2. Finding

Section 19-11-13, Miss Code Ann. (1972), requires the Chancery Clerk to enter all receipts into the accounting system monthly. We noted the following deviations:

- Not all receipts were written timely.
- Some receipts were not written for monies received.
- Receipts were not posted timely.

Recommendation

The Chancery Clerk should write receipts for all monies and post them to the accounting system monthly.

Chancery Clerk's Response

This was corrected as of September, 1992.

Inventory Clerk.

1. Finding

Audit tests of inventory revealed that some items were not tagged with the county's name and the assigned asset number. Further, there was no evidence that a physical inventory was performed.

Recommendation

The Inventory Control Clerk should perform a physical inventory of all items listed in all departments and tag these items with their appropriate asset number.

Inventory Control Clerk's Response

Items are now tagged. I will perform a physical inventory by September 30, 1993.

2. Finding

Several capital outlay expenditures were not reconciled and added as additions and several items, which were deleted per the board minutes, were not deleted from the fixed asset records.

Recommendation

The Inventory Control Clerk should implement a system to review the capital outlay expenditures and the minutes of the Board of Supervisors monthly to determine additions and deletions to fixed assets.

Inventory Control Clerk's Response

The above recommendation will be implemented.

A material weakness is a reportable condition in which the design or operation of one or more of the internal control structure elements does not reduce to a relatively low level the risk that errors or irregularities in amounts that would be material in relation to the component unit financial statements being audited may occur and not be detected within a timely period by employees in the normal course of performing their assigned functions.

Our consideration of the internal control structure would not necessarily disclose all matters in the internal control structure that might be reportable conditions and, accordingly, would not necessarily disclose all reportable conditions that are also considered to be material weaknesses as defined above. However, we believe none of the reportable conditions described above are material weaknesses.

We also noted other matters involving the internal control structure and its operation that we have reported to the management of Hancock County, Mississippi, oversight unit, in our Management Report dated July 2, 1993.

This report is intended for the use of the management. This is not intended to limit the distribution of this report, which is a matter of public record.

REPORT ON INTERNAL CONTROL STRUCTURE REQUIRED BY THE SINGLE AUDIT ACT AND OMB CIRCULAR A-128 USED IN ADMINISTERING FEDERAL FINANCIAL ASSISTANCE PROGRAMS

July 2, 1993

Members of the Board of Supervisors
Hancock County, Mississippi

We have audited the component unit financial statements of Hancock County, Mississippi, oversight unit, as of and for the year ended September 30, 1992, and have issued our report thereon dated July 2, 1993.

We conducted our audit in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards; Government Auditing Standards, issued by the Comptroller General of the United States; and Office of Management and Budget (OMB) Circular A-128, Audits of State and Local Governments. Those standards and OMB Circular A-128 require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the component unit financial statements are free of material misstatement.

In planning and performing our audit for the year ended September 30, 1992, we considered the county's internal control structure in order to determine our auditing procedures for the purpose of expressing our opinion on the county's component unit financial statements and not to provide assurance on the internal control structure. This report addresses our consideration of internal control structure policies and procedures relevant to compliance with requirements applicable to federal financial assistance programs. We have addressed policies and procedures relevant to our audit of the component unit financial statements in a separate report dated July 2, 1993.

The management of Hancock County, Mississippi, oversight unit, is responsible for establishing and maintaining an internal control structure. In fulfilling this responsibility, estimates and judgments by management are required to assess the expected benefits and related costs of internal control structure policies and procedures. The objectives of an internal control structure are to provide management with reasonable, but not absolute, assurance that assets are safeguarded against loss from unauthorized use or disposition, that transactions are executed in accordance with management's authorization and recorded properly to permit the preparation of component unit financial statements in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles, and that federal financial assistance programs are managed in compliance with applicable laws and regulations. Because of inherent limitations in any internal control structure, errors, irregularities or instances of noncompliance may nevertheless occur and not be detected. Also, projection of any evaluation of the structure to future periods is subject to the risk that procedures may become inadequate because of changes in conditions or that the effectiveness of the design and operation of policies and procedures may deteriorate.

For the purpose of this report, we have classified the significant internal control structure policies and procedures used in administering its federal financial assistance programs in the following categories:

General Requirements

Political Activity
Davis-Bacon Act
Civil Rights
Federal Financial Reports
Allowable Costs/Cost Principles
Administration Requirements

Specific Requirements

Types of Services
Matching, Level of Effort or Earmarking
Reporting

Claims for Advances and Reimbursements

Amounts Claimed or Used for Matching

For all of the internal control structure categories listed above, we obtained an understanding of the design of relevant policies and procedures and determined whether they have been placed in operation, and we assessed control risk.

During the year ended September 30, 1992, Hancock County, Mississippi, oversight unit, had no major federal financial assistance programs and expended 51 percent of its total federal financial assistance under the following nonmajor federal financial assistance program: Federal Emergency Management Agency assistance grant.

We performed tests of controls, as required by OMB Circular A-128, to evaluate the effectiveness of the design and operation of internal control structure policies and procedures that we considered relevant to preventing or detecting material noncompliance with specific requirements, general requirements, and requirements governing claims for advances and reimbursements and amounts claimed or used for matching that are applicable to the aforementioned nonmajor federal financial assistance program. Our procedures were less in scope than would be necessary to render an opinion on these internal control structure policies and procedures. Accordingly, we do not express such an opinion.

We noted certain matters involving the internal control structure and its operation that we consider to be reportable conditions under standards established by the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants. Reportable conditions involve matters coming to our attention relating to significant deficiencies in the design or operation of the internal control structure that, in our judgment, could adversely affect the county's ability to administer federal financial assistance programs in accordance with applicable laws and regulations.

Board of Supervisors.

1. Finding

The Board of Supervisors has not designated an employee to serve as an Equal Employment Opportunity Officer.

Recommendation

The Board of Supervisors should designate an Equal Employment Opportunity Officer who will be responsible for reviewing nondiscriminatory policies and procedures and investigating discrimination complaints.

Board of Supervisors' Response

This has been corrected as of April, 1993.

2. Finding

The person administering the FEMA grant has not attended any training sessions for administering or reporting federal assistance grants.

Recommendation

The Board of Supervisors should allow all personnel administering federal assistance grant programs to attend training sessions on the requirements and administration of such grants.

Board of Supervisors' Response

This will be corrected.

3. Finding

As reported in the prior year audit report, documentation was inadequate for compliance with FEMA guidelines.

Recommendation

The Program Administrator should strictly adhere to FEMA guidelines, particularly in documenting expenditures for payroll and rates charged for use of equipment.

Board of Supervisors' Response

This will be corrected.

4. Finding

We noted that the cost of projects, charged to the FEMA grant, exceeded the amount eligible and/or were declared ineligible for reimbursement under the grant agreement.

Recommendation

The Program Administrator should only charge to the projects that cost which is approved for reimbursement and file for reimbursement only on those projects which were declared eligible or file for amendment to the original DSRs approved in the grant.

Board of Supervisors' Response

This will be corrected.

5. Finding

The monthly reports to the Mississippi Library Commission for the public library construction grant were not filed in a timely manner.

Recommendation

The Program Administrator should take steps to insure that required reports are filed timely.

Board of Supervisors' Response

This was corrected in September, 1992.

A material weakness is a reportable condition in which the design or operation of one or more internal control structure elements does not reduce to a relatively low level the risk that noncompliance with laws and regulations that would be material to a federal financial assistance program may occur and not be detected within a timely period by employees in the normal course of performing their assigned functions.

Our consideration of the internal control structure would not necessarily disclose all matters in the internal control structure that might be reportable conditions and, accordingly, would not necessarily disclose all reportable conditions that are also considered to be material weaknesses as defined above. However, we consider reportable condition number 3 and reportable condition number 4 described above involving the internal control structure and its operation to be material weaknesses. These conditions were considered in determining the nature, timing and extent of the procedures to be performed in our audit of Hancock County, Mississippi's compliance with requirements applicable to its nonmajor federal financial assistance programs for the year ended September 30, 1992, and this report does not affect our reports thereon dated July 2, 1993.

We also noted other matters involving the internal control structure and its operation that we have reported to the management of Hancock County, Mississippi, oversight unit, in our Management Report dated July 2, 1993.

This report is intended for the use of the management, the cognizant agency and the appropriate grantor agencies. This is not intended to limit the distribution of this report, which is a matter of public record.

REPORT ON CENTRAL PURCHASING SYSTEM AND PURCHASE CLERK SCHEDULES
(REQUIRED BY SECTION 31-7-115, MISS. CODE ANN. (1972))

July 2, 1993

Members of the Board of Supervisors
Hancock County, Mississippi

We have made a study and evaluation of the central purchasing system of Hancock County, Mississippi, oversight unit, as of and for the year ended September 30, 1992. Our study and evaluation included tests of compliance of the purchase clerk records and such other auditing procedures as we considered necessary in the circumstances.

The Board of Supervisors of Hancock County, Mississippi, oversight unit, is responsible for establishing and maintaining a central purchasing system in accordance with Sections 31-7-101 through 31-7-127, Miss. Code Ann. (1972). In addition, the Board of Supervisors is responsible for purchasing in accordance with the bid requirements of Section 31-7-13, Miss. Code Ann. (1972). The Board of Supervisors of Hancock County, Mississippi, oversight unit, has established centralized purchasing for all funds of the county and has established an inventory control system. The objective of the central purchasing system is to provide reasonable, but not absolute, assurance that purchases are executed in accordance with applicable state law.

Because of inherent limitations in any central purchasing system, errors or irregularities may occur and not be detected. Also, projection of any evaluation of the system to future periods is subject to the risk that procedures may become inadequate because of changes in conditions, or that the degree of compliance with the procedures may deteriorate.

In our opinion, except for the conditions described below, the central purchasing system of Hancock County, Mississippi, oversight unit, taken as a whole, provides reasonable, but not absolute, assurance that purchases are executed in compliance with the aforementioned sections.

Chancery Clerk.

Finding

Sections 31-7-103 and 31-7-109, Miss. Code Ann. (1972), require purchase requisitions, purchase orders and receiving reports to accompany all claims for payment. The required purchase transaction documents were not attached to all claims when they were filed for payment.

Recommendation

The Chancery Clerk should insure that the required purchase documents are attached to all claims when they are filed for payment.

Chancery Clerk's Response

This was a one time occurrence. Measures have been taken to insure this does not happen again.

Inventory Clerk.

Finding

Section 31-7-101, Miss. Code Ann. (1972), requires inventory reports to be filed with the Board of Supervisors, in triplicate, with copies forwarded to the Office of the State Auditor no later than October 15 of each year. The required reports were not filed.

Recommendation

The Inventory Control Clerk should file the inventory reports when required each year.

Inventory Control Clerk's Response

I will make sure that the proper inventory forms are filed in the future.

Assistant Receiving Clerk.

Finding

Section 31-7-124, Miss. Code Ann. (1972), requires an Assistant Receiving Clerk to execute a bond for $10,000. The one Assistant Receiving Clerk was not bonded properly.

Recommendation

The Assistant Receiving Clerk should obtain a bond in the proper amount.

Assistant Receiving Clerks' Response

This has been followed.

The accompanying schedules of (1) purchases not made from the lowest bidder, (2) emergency purchases and (3) purchases made noncompetitively from a sole source are presented in accordance with Section 31-7-115, Miss. Code Ann. (1972). The information contained on these schedules has been subjected to procedures performed in connection with our aforementioned study and evaluation of the purchasing system and, in our opinion, is fairly presented when considered in relation to that study and evaluation.

Hancock County, Mississippi

We have audited the component unit financial statements of Hancock County, Mississippi, oversight unit, as of and for the year ended September 30, 1992, and have issued our report thereon dated July 2, 1993.

We conducted our audit in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards and Government Auditing Standards, issued by the Comptroller General of the United States. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the component unit financial statements are free of material misstatement.

Compliance with laws, regulations, contracts and grants applicable to Hancock County, Mississippi, oversight unit, is the responsibility of the county's management. As part of obtaining reasonable assurance about whether the component unit financial statements are free of material misstatement, we performed tests of the county's compliance with certain provisions of laws, regulations, contracts and grants. However, the objective of our audit of the component unit financial statements was not to provide an opinion on overall compliance with such provisions. Accordingly, we do not express such an opinion.

The results of our tests indicate that, with respect to the items tested, Hancock County, Mississippi, oversight unit, complied, in all material respects, with the provisions referred to in the preceding paragraph. With respect to items not tested, nothing came to our attention that caused us to believe that the county had not complied, in all material respects, with those provisions. However, we noted certain immaterial instances of noncompliance that we have reported to the management of Hancock County, Mississippi, oversight unit, in our Management Report dated July 2, 1993.

This report is intended for the use of the management and the appropriate grantor agencies. This is not intended to limit the distribution of this report, which is a matter of public record.

REPORT ON COMPLIANCE WITH GENERAL REQUIREMENTS APPLICABLE TO FEDERAL FINANCIAL ASSISTANCE PROGRAMS

July 2, 1993

Members of the Board of Supervisors
Hancock County, Mississippi

We have audited the component unit financial statements of Hancock County, Mississippi, oversight unit, as of and for the year ended September 30, 1992, and have issued our report thereon dated July 2, 1993.

We have applied procedures to test Hancock County, Mississippi's compliance with the following requirements applicable to its federal financial assistance programs, which are identified in the Schedule of Federal Financial Assistance under Supplemental Information, as listed in the table of contents, for the year ended September 30, 1992:

General Requirements:
Political Activity
Davis-Bacon Act
Civil Rights
Federal Financial Reports
Allowable Costs/Cost Principles
Administration Requirements

Our procedures were limited to the applicable procedures described in the Office of Management and Budget's Compliance Supplement for Single Audits of State and Local Governments. Our procedures were substantially less in scope than an audit, the objective of which is the expression of an opinion on Hancock County, Mississippi's compliance with the requirements listed in the preceding paragraph. Accordingly, we do not express such an opinion.

With respect to the items tested, the results of those procedures disclosed no material instances of noncompliance with the requirements listed in the second paragraph of this report. With respect to items not tested, nothing came to our attention that caused us to believe that Hancock County, Mississippi, oversight unit, had not complied, in all material respects, with those requirements. However, the results of our procedures disclosed immaterial instances of noncompliance with those requirements, which are described below.

Board of Supervisors.

1. Finding

The Board of Supervisors has not designated an employee to serve as an Equal Employment Opportunity Officer.

Recommendation

The Board of Supervisors should designate an Equal Employment Opportunity Officer who will be responsible for reviewing nondiscriminatory policies and procedures and investigating discrimination complaints.

Board of Supervisors' Response

This has been corrected as of April, 1993.

2. Finding

As reported in the prior year audit report, documentation was inadequate for compliance with FEMA guidelines.

Recommendation

The Program Administrator should strictly adhere to FEMA guidelines, particularly in documenting expenditures for payroll and rates charged for use of equipment.

Board of Supervisors' Response

This will be corrected.

3. Finding

We noted that the cost of projects, charged to the FEMA grant, exceeded the amount eligible and/or were declared ineligible for reimbursement under the grant agreement.

Recommendation

The Program Administrator should only charge to the projects that cost which is approved for reimbursement and file for reimbursement only on those projects which were declared eligible or file for amendment to the original DSRs approved in the grant.

Board of Supervisors' Response

This will be corrected.

4. Finding

The monthly reports to the Mississippi Library Commission for the public library construction grant were not filed in a timely manner.

Recommendation

The Program Administrator should take steps to insure that required reports are filed timely.

Board of Supervisors' Response

This was corrected in September, 1992.

This report is intended for the use of the management, the cognizant agency and the appropriate grantor agencies. This is not intended to limit the distribution of this report, which is a matter of public record.

REPORT ON COMPLIANCE WITH REQUIREMENTS APPLICABLE TO NONMAJOR FEDERAL FINANCIAL ASSISTANCE PROGRAM TRANSACTIONS

July 2, 1993

Members of the Board of Supervisors
Hancock County, Mississippi

We have audited the component unit financial statements of Hancock County, Mississippi, oversight unit, as of and for the year ended September 30, 1992, and have issued our report thereon dated July 2, 1993.

In connection with our audit of the component unit financial statements of Hancock County, Mississippi, oversight unit, as of and for the year ended September 30, 1992, and with our consideration of the county's internal control structure used to administer federal financial assistance programs, as required by Office of Management and Budget (OMB) Circular A-128, Audits of State and Local Governments, we selected certain transactions applicable to certain nonmajor federal financial assistance programs for the year ended September 30, 1992.

As required by OMB Circular A-128, we have performed auditing procedures to test compliance with the requirements governing types of services allowed or unallowed that are applicable to those transactions. Our procedures were substantially less in scope than an audit, the objective of which is the expression of an opinion on Hancock County, Mississippi's compliance with these requirements. Accordingly, we do not express such an opinion.

With respect to the items tested, the results of those procedures disclosed no material instances of noncompliance with the requirements listed in the preceding paragraph. With respect to items not tested, nothing came to our attention that caused us to believe that Hancock County, Mississippi, oversight unit, had not complied, in all material respects, with those requirements. Also, the results of our procedures did not disclose any immaterial instances of noncompliance with those requirements.

This report is intended for the use of the management, the cognizant agency and the appropriate grantor agencies. This is not intended to limit the distribution of this report, which is a matter of public record.

MANAGEMENT REPORT

July 2, 1993

Members of the Board of Supervisors
Hancock County, Mississippi

We have audited the component unit financial statements of Hancock County, Mississippi, oversight unit, as of and for the year ended September 30, 1992, and have issued our report thereon dated July 2, 1993. We conducted our audit in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards and the procedures prescribed by the State Auditor, and accordingly, included such tests of the accounting records and such other auditing procedures as we considered necessary in the circumstances.

During the course of our audit, certain matters were detected which require the attention of management. These matters, which do not have a material effect on the component unit financial statements, involve weaknesses in the county's internal control structure policies and procedures and instances of noncompliance with applicable state laws and regulations. The findings of the prior year in this and other reports have been corrected by management unless specifically stated otherwise. Our findings and recommendations and your responses are as follows:

Board of Supervisors.

1. Finding

As reported in the prior year audit report, Section 19-11-17, Miss. Code Ann. (1972), prohibits the incurring of expenditures in excess of the final budget as approved by the Board of Supervisors. Actual expenditures exceeded budgeted amounts in several of the funds.

Recommendation

The Board of Supervisors should not make expenditures in excess of budgeted amounts.

Board of Supervisors' Response

This will be corrected for fiscal year 1993.

2. Finding

As reported in the prior year audit report, Section 19-11-19, Miss. Code Ann. (1972), states the Board of Supervisors may revise the budget at any regular meeting during the fiscal year. The Board of Supervisors did not revise the budget when actual expenditures exceeded budgeted estimates.

Recommendation

The Board of Supervisors should revise the budget when actual expenditures exceed budgeted estimates.

Board of Supervisors' Response

This will be corrected for fiscal year 1993.

3. Finding

Section 19-3-27, Miss. Code Ann. (1972), requires the board minutes to be a complete and correct record of all proceedings of the Board of Supervisors. The minutes indicated that the board was to borrow money to purchase two Dodge trucks but these trucks were paid for by a check without borrowing the money.

Recommendation

The Board of Supervisors should document in its minutes all of the actions that were taken.

Board of Supervisors' Response

This was corrected by rescinding the original order.

4. Finding

Section 31-7-305, Miss. Code Ann. (1972), requires payment of claims within 45 days after receipt of the invoices and after 45 days interest must be assessed and paid at a rate of 1 1/2% per month. Some claims were paid after the 45 days without the interest being assessed and paid the vendor.

Recommendation

The county should make prompt payment of claims or assess the interest after 45 days.

Board of Supervisors' Response

This was a one time occurrence. Measures have been taken to insure this does not happen again.

Chancery Clerk.

1. Finding

Section 99-19-73, Miss. Code Ann. (1972), requires the Chancery Clerk to settle the standard state assessments monthly to the state. The Chancery Clerk did not settle monthly as required, resulting in an accumulation of cash balances.

Recommendation

The Chancery Clerk should settle monthly as required.

Chancery Clerk's Response

This was corrected in December, 1992.

2. Finding

As reported in the prior year audit report, the oil, gas and timber severance taxes were not settled to the schools properly. The county was $4,824 short in settling the correct amount of severance taxes to the schools.

Recommendation

The Chancery Clerk should settle to the schools their proper share of severance taxes.

Chancery Clerk's Response

This was a receipt from November, 1990. It was settled as soon as it was brought to our attention.

3. Finding

As reported in the prior year audit report, the Chancery Clerk charged, without statutory authority, a $1 fee at redemption date for land sold to the state.

Recommendation

The Chancery Clerk should charge only those fees authorized by law.

THE SEA COAST ECHO—THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 11, 1993

Chancery Clerk's Response

This has been corrected.

4. Finding

Our cash count dated June 8, 1993 for land redemption revealed that a deposit for the month of April, 1993 was never made, resulting in a shortage at the time of the cash count.

Recommendation

The Chancery Clerk should make the deposit in a timely manner.

Chancery Clerk's Response

We believe this shortage is caused by old outstanding checks. We canceled these and did another cash count to insure that this account is balanced.

Sheriff.

1. Finding

As reported in the prior year audit report, the Sheriff charged, without statutory authority, fees for providing identification cards and issuing gun permits.

Recommendation

The Sheriff should not collect any fees unless he has authority to do so.

Sheriff's Response

We do not collect these fees anymore.

2. Finding

Section 19-7-11, Miss. Code Ann. (1972), gives the Board of Supervisors the authority to enter into necessary contracts for the erection, remodeling, enlarging or repairing the courthouse or jail. Section 19-3-40, Miss. Code Ann. (1972), gives the Board of Supervisors the power to adopt any orders, resolutions or ordinances with respect to county affairs, property and finances. A representative of the Sheriff's department signed a contract to install a telephone system in the jail for use by the inmates.

Recommendation

The Sheriff should direct all contracts to the Board of Supervisors.

Sheriff's Response

We will correct this matter by obtaining board authorization on all telephone systems.

Tax Collector

1. Finding

Section 27-53-7, Miss. Code Ann. (1972), requires the Tax Collector, at the time of registration, to assess the value of mobile homes. The amount of the assessment used for some mobile homes did not agree with the mobile home assessment book approved by the State Tax Commission.

Recommendation

The Tax Collector should prepare a mobile home assessment, according to the mobile home assessment book and/or document why there may be any differences.

Tax Collector's Response

The incorrect value was used when the assessments were keyed into the computer. Upon discovery, this situation was remedied immediately.

2. Finding

As reported in the prior year audit report, the Tax Collector is preparing the settlement reports of taxes collected from the computer generated cash books. However, the cash books and settlement reports are not reconciled to the cash journal. This resulted in the over-and-under settlement of taxes throughout the year.

Recommendation

The Tax Collector should reconcile the cash books and settlement reports to the cash journal each month.

Tax Collector's Response

This finding is noted and will strictly be enforced in the future.

3. Finding

Section 27-29-11, Miss. Code Ann. (1972), requires the Tax Collector to deposit all taxes into the county depository on the day such taxes are collected or the next business day thereafter. Deposits were not always made within the time limits prescribed by this section.

Recommendation

The Tax Collector should make daily deposits of all taxes collected.

Tax Collector's Response

Due to the tremendous volume of mail-in payments, a very slight delay may occur occasionally in making deposits in order to balance checks.

Circuit Clerk.

Finding

Section 7-7-211, Miss. Code Ann. (1972), gives the Office of the State Auditor the authority to prescribe accounting systems. The receipts were not posted to the docket.

Recommendation

The Circuit Clerk should post receipts to the docket.

Circuit Clerk's Response

Due to the shortage of staff and our accounting records, I feel the posting of receipts to the docket is too much work.

The findings in this report came to our attention as a result of the audit procedures and tests that we applied. For those items not tested, nothing came to our attention that would lead us to believe that Hancock County, Mississippi, oversight unit, had not complied with applicable state laws and regulations, other than the laws for which we noted violations in our testing referred to above.

The Office of the State Auditor will review the findings in this and other reports on future audit engagements to insure that action has been taken to correct all findings.

This report is intended for the use of the management. This is not intended to limit the distribution of this report, which is a matter of public record.
